

THESISGEN – LEGAL DISCLAIMER & LIMITATION OF LIABILITY

Last Updated: February 23, 2026

1. NATURE OF THE SERVICE

ThesisGen is an Artificial Intelligence (AI) writing support tool. The Service is designed exclusively to provide starting points, structural ideas, and reference material to assist the User in drafting academic or professional papers.

2. NO SUBSTITUTION OF INTELLECTUAL WORK

The User acknowledges and agrees that:

Human Oversight: ThesisGen DOES NOT replace the critical, intellectual, or research work required from the student or professional.

Raw Output: Any generated content—including but not limited to text, indices, and bibliographies—must be treated strictly as a "raw output" preliminary draft.

Mandatory Validation: The User has the legal and ethical obligation to verify, correct, rewrite, and validate every part of the generated content before any official use or submission.

3. TOTAL DISCLAIMER OF LIABILITY

Andrea Colombo Ditta Individuale (operating as thesisgen.cloud) declines all responsibility for:

Academic Consequences: Any disciplinary actions, loss of grades, or expulsion from academic institutions.

Plagiarism: The improper, illegal, or unethical use of the generated material, including the submission of AI-generated work as one's own.

Accuracy: Errors, omissions, or "hallucinations" typical of AI technology.

4. USER RESPONSIBILITY

The User is solely responsible for the final use and submission of the content. By using this Service, the User commits to respecting the ethical codes and regulations of their specific university or professional organization.
